FOR NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

ADJT. GEN. D. H. HASTINGS,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention.

THE CENTRAL CITY, NO 3.

Like everything else in this new and bustling town, the life led by its citizens is constantly changing. Thirty years ago they were pioneers facing all the toils and all the miseries of frontier existence. Queer stories are told of those early times. The first comers organized themselves into a society, and resolved to prevent the permanent settlement of any one obnoxious to them. In the prosecution of this design, they spared no possible means of achieving their ends. Dark legends of midnight murders, lynchings, whippings, and drownings have come down to us from those wild years. The names of a number of prominent citizens were concerned in these misdeeds, but no one seeing the sleek respectability of their appearance now, or beholding the smug piety with which they officiate in the different churches, would imagine that they had been guilty of the heinous offences laid to their charge. They have improved with the development of the city, and, as it has yearly become more of a metropolis, so the early settlers have yearly become more prosperous, pious and respectable.

When the town began to grow, and especially in the last five or six years since the "boom," people from all the four quarters of the globe flocked into it. Even Constantinople can have among its inhabitants no greater variety of nationalities. In the streets of Omaha the progressive Yankee jostles the conservative Chinese, the Pennsylvania Dutchman mingles with the fiery Spaniard, the hot blooded Kentuckian with the stolid German, the lively Frenchman with the respectable Englishman, the Hoosier with the dark skinned Turk, and the red Indian of the Lost Tribes of Israel with the Wandering Jew. Every nation is represented, and there are so many foreigners, that the question of an Englishman who asked "where are the Americans?" was completely justifiable. In this new city the process of making Europeans into Americans is the chief occupation of the politicians, the ministers and the school teachers. In some quarters they meet with indifferent success, but, on the whole, they achieve their purpose remarkably well. The only races, which do not submit to the necessary changes easily, are the English and the Hungarian. In spite of the American influences about them, the Cockney remains a cockney and the Magyar a magyar. Nothing can affect them any more than the Chinese. They are sui-generis, and will not mix.

Not only are all nations represented, but every class of every nation. The Italian noble and the lazzaroni, well bred Englishmen from the Universities and ill bred ones with misplaced aitches from the great commercial towns. Frenchman of the Fawbourg and little Gallic workmen from Lyons and Marseilles, the Magyar Bovar and the Hungarian peasant, the Spanish hidalgo and the Mexican cow boy, the haughty red man of the forest and the drunken Indian of the town, all are mingled in one mighty throng. Of the one hundred and thirty thousand people in the city, seventy thousand are foreign born. One sees and meets more foreigners in a week in Omaha than most people in Pennsylvania do in a year. The city i an olla podrida of all nations, tribess classes, castes, religions, creeds and tongues.

It is inevitable that them anners, and customs of such a heterogeneous crowd should be very different from those which prevail in older and more completely Americanized communities. A Pennsylvanian, who is used to the quiet and conservative life of a well ordered town in the Keystone state, has to undergo many surprises and shocks to his prejudices. One of the first differences he notices, is the observance of the Sabbath. In the West the old puritan, strictly Jewish, day of fast and penitence has entirely disappeared. Sunday in Omaha, and the other western cities is a holiday as it is on the Continent of Europe. Everybody goes to church in the morning, but the afternoon and evening are devoted to recreation. In spring and summer Sunday afternoon is the chief base ball day, and ten and twenty thousand people flock to see the great American game. In the evening the theaters are open, and are generally crowded. Two years ago the saloons were in full blast on Sunday, but the High License law has closed them on that day. Council Bluffs, however, which is in a prohibition state, and abounds in "blind hogs" and "speak easies," is so near, that all the sports of Omaha go over there for drinks when they cannot obtain them at home. Sunday here is a great day for driving and the owners of fast horses exercise them in defiance of the Fourth Commandment. All the world of Omaha and his wife are to be seen disporting themselves on the streets, in the parks, and in the theaters, yet the churches are crowded too, and piety and sport apparently exist together in amiable fellowship.

The Western people are very fond of all sorts of amusement. The puritan fathers when they landed at Plymouth first began the erection of a church. The western pioneer first builds a saloon, Around the saloon. the town grows up. The theater and the base ball park are among the earliest improvements. Long before the streets are paved, the water pipes laid, the churches finished, or all the new comers have been provided with any, mere permanent shelter than tents, the people are attending League games listening to Patti sing and seeing Berndhart act. Omaha still retains these peculiarities. It is difficult to decide which the Westerner cares for most obtaining the Almighty Dollar or getting rid of it. No one could exaggerate the extravagance and recklessness of the typical Western man. He is fully convinced that he will be a millionaire, and grades his expenditures in the present by what he expects to have in the future. He will throw away his last cent on drinks, his last dollar on the theater, and go to bed in peace, for he hopes that some speculation will turn up the next day and make him "flush" again. The consequence of this propensity is, that in a city, which really contains but few rich people, the theaters are crowded, two hundred saloons flourish, base ball reigns in splendor by the support of immense audiences, gambling hells abound, and the demi-monde live in the greatest luxury.

All the Western people delight in giving immense entertainments. They do not exercise a constant hospitality, but once or twice a year they make a tremendous splurge. If they are unable to do so individually, they combine into some club or society and do it collectively. The city is full of balls, in which there are private club, or public balls every night. "The Select One Hundred" as an association of gentlemen styles itself, gives four very elegant assemblies at the Millard Hotel every year. Each of the clubs, the Omaha, the Union, Elks, and Metropolitan (the Hebrew society) throw open their rooms to their friends once or twice each season. There are numerous societies formed for dancing purposes, and the policemen and firemen give balls which are very popular with the 'oi poloi. Everybody can find some place to go, where he can meet congenial society. and enjoy himself in his own way.

In the midst of all the pushing, active life around them are numbers of quiet, cultured, people, who pursue the even tenor of their way, unaffected by the influences which I have mentioned. Some of them are wealthy, and give their time and money to the use of the public. The charities of Omaha are well organized and are constantly increasing in usefulness. The Creche is an admirable institution, and takes care of the children of the poor working women. The Open Door has been quite successful in reforming some of the fallen. Several hospitals also are well conducted. Besides these undertakings, the wealthy, cultured and energetic people have devoted themselves to others of a different nature. Mr. Lininger has formed a collection of pictures, and throws his gallery open to the public. One of the rich young ladies has established classes in Shakespeare and Browning, and teaches them with untiring enthusiasm: Most of these good people are Yankees, who, however much they have backslidden from the creed of the pilgrim fathers (and their descendants are mostly, Unitarians in Omaha) have by no means lost the puritan energy. They are amid the bright sunshine of Nebraska, as faithful propogandists of Womans Rights, Civil Service Reform, Culture and good works, as their brothers and sisters in foggy Boston.

Western life is however, on the whole, very uncongenial to an Easterner. He finds his customary idols made light of on this side of the Mississippi. Other gods are set up in their place, but the worships of these strange divinities is difficult to learn and not very satisfactory when acquired. Mrs. Grundy, of course, exists in the West, but the good lady has so changed her appearance, painted her cheeks, and adopted such dashing manners, that she is hardly recognizable. The trim respectability of the East is not valued in the West. There is an altogether freer morality out here. The schools of Omaha are supported from the proceeds of the licenses of saloons and houses of prostitution. Education is thus made dependent on the vices of the community, This is an arrangement vastly agreeable to the majority, and hardly a dissentient voice is raised against it. In everything the people have cast off the conservatism of the East, and are thoroughly convinced that their new methods are greatly superior to the old.

THE SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

From the York Dispatch

The opportunity offered by the Dispatch for the Republican voters of York county to express their preference for a candidate for Governor has been taken advantage of by a goodly number from all over the county, showing the drift of public sentiment throughout the county. For the first few days the vote came in slowly, but has been picking up daily and more interest being shown in the contest, especially since the date of the convention has been named. The following is the result of the voting up to last Saturday morning:

Hastings	744
Montooth	392
Delamater	112
Stone	32
Osborne	24
Seigfried	12
McCormick	8
Dale	1
Total	1325

Quite a number sent word that they had no particular preference and would vote for the nominee of the convention. In some sections there is more interest than others and a larger vote was returned. Some declined to vote for fear their names would be published, but this was an ungrounded fear as there was no intention to publish names. They were only required as a guarantee of good faith, and to prevent voting more than once. The ballots will be destroyed after being counted, and no exposure of the voter's name will be made. The only object of the vote was to gain some idea of the popular feeling on the Gubernatorial question, soon to become the most absorbing one in the State.

Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Gen. Hastings addressed a large audience in the rooms of the Pennsylvania Club, in Philadelphia, last night, on "The American Soldier," saying, among other things, that when the soldier sheathed his sword he became a citizen of the best type, and entitled to preferment according to his record in the field and his ability as a citizen.

Doylestown Intelligencer.

There are large numbers of Democrats who would vote for Hastings. They admire him as a private individual. applaud his superb work at Johnstown and really wish for an opportunity to assist in putting him in the Governor's chair. This is not an imaginative picture but one drawn from real life—where men think, act and are disposed to weigh matters for themselves. Hastings' popularity is steadily increasing every day, notwithstanding the combined opposition of those who oppugn him.

Lock Haven Express.

The Republicans of Clinton county should take pride in voting for a delegate that will support Gen. D. H. Hastings for Governor. The General is a native of this county, and if nominated will certainly be elected. Turn out to-night and vote for delegates to the county convention that will select a Hastings delegate to the State Convention.

IN FAVOR OF HASTINGS.

From the Norristown Times.

A gentleman who is considered a close observer on political subjects both local and within the county, ventured the remark last night that Montgomery would present a solid delegation for General D. H. Hastings at the coming Republican State Convention at Harrisburg. He explained that within the past few weeks while traveling over the county, he had come in contact with a great many persons, and five out of every six whom he had met expressed themselves unreservedly in favor of the Bellefonte candidate. The meeting of the Republican county committee, he said, would be held in Norristown within the next ten days and the 3d or 10th of June will be decided upon as the date for holding the convention for the selection of delegates to the State Convention, and from the present expression of enthusiasm for Hastings the delegation would be instructed to work for his nomination' "How about Delamater's friends?" he was asked "I know of but one gentleman prominent in politics who is making any decided stand for him. The others have all come over to Hastings,'

Mauch Chunk COAL GAZETTE.

The best Republican sentiment today stands for General Hastings' nomination to the highest position in the party gift this year. He is in every way eligible and from every standpoint worthy. He would be the party's strongest candidate and would bring the greatest strength to the party's ticket. The evidences are seen on every side that the honest judgment of the party is in harmony with this conclusion, and the daily tendency of events indicates a strong disposition to allow no mistake to be made this year.

The Republican party can this year poll a larger majority than it has ever known in Pennsylvania for Governor; it can help every close county in the State; it can emphasize by its nominations the expressions of its past platforms; it can harmonize all interests; it can add credit to its own reputation. All these interests and more can be best and most surely served by nominating for Governor the Hero of Johnstown, Daniel H. Hastings—the people's choice.

THE shock that was intended for Kemmler was delivered to a calf. The animal was nearly roasted, though the shock was only the briefest instant. Their was an odor of burnt hair and cooked flesh. And still some say electricity is liable not to kill. A briefer death it would be impossible to imagine and still it is said to be cruel, contrasted with hanging by the neck from five to fifteen minutes while the vital spark is fading out!

ASSISTANT Postmaster General Clarkson has been persuaded by Mr. Wanamaker to remain in office until July 1, when he will take his leave. His friends say that he has no business engagement and does not know where he will locate. He says he cannot afford official life in Washington. He is not rich enough.

THE prospects for the civilization of Africa have brightened greatly of late. The British trading companies are greatly restricting the rum trade. If their example is followed by the Germans a business that is said to have caused more demoralization and suffering to the native Africans than the slave traffic will be broken up.

THE young Emperor of Germany is manifesting an aptitude for government which no other present ruler of Europe possesses, and which has not, perhaps, been possessed by any European sovereign within the last two or three generations.

THE horrible scene of the burning of the mad house of Chenango county, New York, has brought that county into an almost infamous prominence. The Sun thinks it would be hard to find anything resembling it in the civilized world.

IT is well understood that Mr. Randall before he died expressed a strong wish for Wallace as the Democratic candidate, and yet the Randall Club of Pittsburg has declared for Pattison.

Metaphorical language is sometimes misleading. When one begins to "call names," even in a complimentary fashion, there is a chance that some literal person wil wonder what he means. A gentleman visiting a little town "Down East," says:

I called on business at the house of an old lady, and entertained myself in looking over her library.

We fell to discussing books, and, thinking of Emerson, I asked her if she knew, much about the "Sage of Concord."

"Concord, where?" she asked.

"Concord, Massachusetts," I answered.

"Is it any better'n any other sage?" she innocently inquired.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Senator Quay has presided over a very important meeting of the National Republican committee here to-day. One notable feature of the meeting of the committee was the entire absence of the wrangling which our democratic friends have been of late so industrious in telling about. There is harmony among the members of the committee and they all think that the Republicans can hold their own if not increase their majority in the House of Representative by hard work between now and election day, next November.

The Sherman family which has occupied a proud position in American history for a good many years celebrated two notable anniversaries in this city Friday and Saturday evenings. The first was the seventieth birthday of General William Tecumseh Sherman, and it was celebrated by a reception at the residence of his brother John, the Senator which was attended by about every prominent person in Washington. The General, who by the way, is looking remarkably well, came over from New York City, where he now resides, and will remain here for a few days. The second event celebrated was the sixty-seventh birthday of Senator John Sherman who made it memorable by a dinner at which the President, Vice President and other prominent personal friends were entertained.

In the House to-day, the five minute debate on the tariff bill, which is to continue eight days, was begun. At its close the vote will be taken. Some very strong speeches were made last week in support of the bill, but as important as the subject is the audiences have been small both on the floor and in the galleries. There is but little entertainment in a tariff speech, no matter how able the speaker may be.

The election of a successor to the late Senator Beck has brought out the fact that ex-Speaker Carlisle, one of the leading candidates, has a great many bitter enemies in his own party and some very revolting stories of his personal habits and private life are being circulated by democrats here.

A bill has been introduced into the House to prohibit printing upon or attaching any advertisement for public display to an American flag.

In spite of democratic opposition the Senate has passed, and the President signed, the bill classifying all imported worsted cloths as woolen.

Secretary Proctor on Saturday made a second allowance of $50,000 for the Mississippi flood sufferers. This leaves a balance in his hands of $50,000 out of the $150,000 recently appropriated by Congress.

Representative La Fayette, of Wisconsin, made a telling point in favor of a protective tariff when he said: "The democrats denounced the republican party when in 1883 it placed a duty on wire nails of 4 cents a pound. The duty has stimulated the production of wire nails, and to-day they are being sold at 2 cents and two tenth cents a pound, or just a little more than one half of the duty imposed."

Gen. John C. Fremont was so overjoyed to learn, as he did last week, that instead of owing the Government [$19,000 as claimed by the Treasury department some years ago, the Government owed him $2,800 that he fainted, in the office. The mistake was made by a careless bookkeeper.

The Senate has passed the Army appropriation bill with an amendment providing that no alcoholic liquors, beer or wine shall be sold to enlisted men in any canteen or building in a garrison or military post.

The House has passed a bill giving Mrs. Parnell, mother of the leader of the Irish party in the British House of Commons, a pension of $50 a month. The pension is given in consideration of the extraordinary services of Mrs. Parnells father, Admiral Charles Stewart who served in the United States navy for 71 consecutive years.

The Senate before passing the annual pension appropriation bill adopted an amendment thereto, increasing the number of pension agencies from eighteen to twenty.

The Rowell Federal election bill which has been approved by the republican caucus has been introduced in the House. It is almost the same as the Hoar bill now pending in the Senate. It now seems certain that a Federal election law will be enacted at the present session, though a few republicans in both the House and Senate are opposed to it.

Senator Edmunds is again in his seat, and he denies that he has been ill as was reported, and says it was only another case of "newspaper sickness."

Representative Morrill of Kansas, who has been represented by the democratic press as being a candidate to succeed Senator Ingalls, says that he has no idea of becoming a candidate for the Senate, and he adds that Mr. Ingalls is certain of being re-elected by a good majority.

GENERAL NOTES.

A chicken with four legs, four wings and two heads has just been hatched at Delmar, Del.

An oil well was struck recently in Torry Canyon, Ventura county, that flows 200 barrels day.

You can get 100 acres of land in Samoa for $1.37 and the taxes will be only 39 cents a year.

A tree was felled recently at Tillamook, Ore., that was 120 feet long, while the butt measured only 1 foot through.

There are 2,700 courts in the United States engaged in granting divorces, and one marriage in every 28 is thus annulled.

Miss Olive Buchanan, of St. Louis, is the first woman in the United States to hold the office of United States Deputy Marshal.

The money annually spent for cosmetics by the women of this country would paint 17,000 houses, allowing $75 for each house.

The national debt of Germany, which is much smaller than that of any other great country in the world, is, in round figures, $192,000,000.

They're getting together again. Bill Nye is a well-known citizen of Kalamazoo, Mich., and J Whitcomb Riley does the barber act in An Sable, Mich.

There were found in the coffers of Henry II, after his decease, £900,000, beside plate, jewels, and other valuables; an immense treasure in those days.

A child of 6 in Manchester, Me., drank half a pint of whisky that had been obtained for medicinal purposes, and two days after died of alcoholic poisoning.

An Alpena, Mich., justice swore himself as a witness in a case which was pending before him as judge. He wanted to serve as juryman also, but the defense objected.

When the late Charles E Sitton, of Portland, Ore., died suddenly a few weeks since, his estate was said to be worth $200,000, but upon appraisement it was returned at $321,210.94

The last issue of the "American Newspaper Directory" shows that no less than 797 German newspapers are published in the United States and Canada. Of these 91 are issued daily and 585 weekly.

Zenas and George Mayo, at Hancock, N Y, married two sisters simultaneously, and last week, just as simultaneously, the two sisters obtained divorce from the brothers for cruel treatment.

Silkworms when newly hatched scarcely weigh one quarter of an ounce, yet in the course of their life, which only lasts about 35 days, they will consume between 2,000 and 4,000 pounds of leaves.

In digging a well on Hyde's ranch, near Viawest, Tulare county, a buffalo horn was found at the depth of 37 feet. How it got there is a puzzler, as no buffaloes were known to have been in this county.

School teachers in Brooklyn can now lose 15 days a year through sickness without having anything deducted from their salaries, the board of education having decided to that effect Tuesday.

A Matilda A. Scott, living in North May street, New York, has a kennel and a dog farm, where she raises toy terriers that net $200 a year, and she pays all her expenses with the proceeds of the canine sick ward.

During clear days people of Cartage, Ill., have distinctly heard the ringing of a ponderous church bell at Golden, 28 miles away. The bell hangs in the German Lutheran church tower, and it requires two men to ring it.

An electric typewriter is being constructed which will write letters in New York as they are transmitted from Boston, and vice versa, the communication being transmitted simultaneously over four separate wires.

A lad of 17 years died lately at Pomona, Cal., from the excessive use of tobacco. He was known to have smoked in one day 60 cigarettes and two or three strong Mexican cigars. The doctors say he died of narcotic poison.

A novel way of raising money to build a church has been adopted by a congregation in an Iowa town. They borrowed $120,000 and gave life insurance on a number of members, which is to be applied on the debt as fast as death ensues.

AGRICULTURAL.

TREATMENT OF YOUNG FRUIT TREES—FARM NOTES, ETC.

Much depends upon how the young trees are managed the first year after they are planted. Severe cutting back is beneficial to the peach tree, and cases are known in which old trees have been induced to make new growth and continue bearing, even when nearly gone, by cutting all of the old wood away above the trunk. Low, stocky trees stand the winds better, and the fruit is easily picked, but the cultivator cannot be used to advantage as among tall trees. The failure to cut back severely the first year, however, often results in but little new wood and a poor start for the young tree, which should be guarded against, as the future of the tree depends upon its progress during the first season. The greater the work done by the roots the more rapid the growth of the tree; but there is such a thing as giving the roots more than can be done. By cutting back the young tree at the time of setting it out, and allowing but a few shoots to grow, the power of the roots will be thrown into them, and as the roots will not be overtaxed, the tree will at once begin to grow, and grow rapidly, each shoot pushing forward as if to excel the others; but when too much top is left on, each shoot of the many will draw upon the roots, and the result will be that but little growth will be made, while the tree will be slow in coming into bearing later on. By securing as much growth as possible the first year the future shape and trimming of the tree can be done to better advantage, and this is effected only when the young tree is allowed to grow from a limited number of shoots, and when it is cut back so as not to impose too much duty on the roots. The young orchard should be kept clean the first year, and the more frequently it is cultivated the better. Grass should not be allowed in a peach orchard at any time, though on rich soils grass is sometimes grown in pear and apple orchards, but only after the first year. Unrotted manure is too heating for young trees, and the best manure is that which has been composted. What is better, however, is an application of wood ashes every spring, applied liberally, after the first year, with 100 pounds of superphosphates in the fall. Young trees so treated will thrive, provided the very important work of destroying insects of all kinds is carefully attended to.

While the weather is dry the roots of plants will quickly dry if exposed, It is best to pour a little water around the roots of plants that are transplanted, as it will prevent many of them from wilting. If the ground below the surface is quite damp this precaution is not necessary.

Variation of the food promotes appetite. All animals become disgusted with a sameness of food. When food is refused tempt the animal with something else. In this manner sickness and loss of flesh may be avoided, while the cost need not be necessarily increased.

Dry soil should receive flat cultivation and damp soils should be ridged. The object, in the first place, is to save as much of the moisture as possible, and in the second, to get rid of the excess.

If you cannot keep the number of animals you have on your farm do not try to get more land, but sell off a portion of the stock. Overcrowding is as injurious as too much room.

Do you work the horses too steadily at first. A horse that has stood in the stable all through the winter, doing but little work, is in no condition for enduring a heavy day's labor.

It is thought that in the agricultural districts botany should be a study in the public schools, and that one day in the week should be given up to lectures on soils, plants, breeds of stock, cultivation fertilizers, etc. Such studies are not uninteresting to children who are accustomed to the farm, and they would quickly comprehend the lectures from the aid imparted by every-day experiences. No doubt such studies would be of much benefit to the coming generation and lead to better systems of farming.

The better the quality of the manure the less the cost of handling it. Bulk does not give quality, and this is especially the case with manure. To haul and handle great quantities of unrotted coarse, bulky material costs the labor of both men and teams. It is claimed that a ton of ordinary stable manure contains only twenty-five pounds of fertilizer in its concentrated form, and it is as expensive to handle this twentyfive pounds as it is to handle manure twice as valuable.

When the farmer churns his milk and sells butter he does not deprive his soil of fertility. The buttermilk may be fed to swine and poultry with profit, but when meat and eggs are sold the fertility of the soil goes also. Nothing robs the soil faster than selling milk and unless the farmer procures fertilizers or buys a large proportion of bran and linseed meal his farm will deteriorate in quantity.

To get a full crop of potatoes use plenty of manure or fertilizer. If manure, let it be fine and well rotted and applied liberally in the rows. If fertilizer be used it should be applied in quantity to push the plants vigorously and to enable the crop to produce as much as possible. It does not pay to be too economical in the use of manure or fertilizer.

Scissored Humor.

First Senator—I have a scheme to which I wish to give the widest publicity. What do you suggest as the best method?

Second Senator—Discuss it in secret sessions, of course.

"What is the news in the papers this morning my dear?" Asked the President.

"You are laid up with the influenza."

"Really! I'm very sorry to hear it."

Ted—I made Delly tell me the things she loved me for.

Ned—Well!

Ted—I didn't really possess a single one of them.

'Is that cement any good?' asked a prospective purchaser of a peddler.

'Any good!' was the reply. 'Why, you could mend the break of day with that cement.'

'There's Enterpe and Melpomean on the curtain. And that gal over there on the left is Tripsichore, the goddess of dancin'.'

'Tripsichore is a good name for her—ain't it, Silas?'

'I, sir, when I was your age, went to roost with the hens and got up with the lark.'

'You did? Did you keep the lark in the same coop with the hens and yourself?'

She—Shakespeare is simply marvelous.

Young Talkley—He is, indeed. Even the names he gives his minor characters have a deep significance. Look at Pistol, for instance. He was always loaded.

"There's only one fault I have to find with Dr. Pulpit's sermons," said Mrs. Poots, whose pew is in the back part of a large and fashionable church.

"What's that?" asked Mr. P.

"I can't hear one word he says."

"Humph! That's just what I like about 'em," grunted Poots.

Mother—Tommy, I hear you got a thrashing in school to-day.

Tommy—Yes, ma, the teacher whipped me, but he is getting so old and weak that it didn't hurt much.

Did you cry?

O yes, I bawled so you could have heard it on the next block.

Why did you do that?

I wanted to make the old man feel happy once more.

Little Jeannette's mother found her one day with her face covered with jam from ear to ear.

'O Jeannette,' said her mother, 'what would you think if you should catch me looking like that some day?'

'I should think you'd had an awful good time, mamma,' said Jeannette, her face brightening.

Jimmy Jaysmith (to caller)—Can you whistle, Mr. Larkin?

Larkin—Not very well, Jimmy. Why?

"Well, I think you had better learn how, for pop told mamma last night you'd have to whistle for the $100 he owes you.

Jones—Ha! I believe that boy you recommended to me the other day is only half witted. I sent him to the bank for fifty dollars and he lost twenty five coming home.

Robinson—Don't discharge him, John. A full witted boy might have stolen the whole of it and said nothing.

Widow—When I was here last week Mr. Chisel, I told you to put on the headstone, "My Only Love."

Marble Dealer—Yes ma'am, but one of my workmen has been sick and I haven' begun the job yet.

Widow—Well in view of subsequent events, I guess you may substitute the words "My First Husband." A pleasant morning, Mr. Chisel.

Little Tommy—Mamma, why do men hunt tigers and lions?

Mamma—Because—because they kill the poor little sheep.

Why, then, don't they hunt the butcher, too?

Miss Fussanfeather—Stop crying, Johnnie. You don't see me crying when my hair is being combed.

Johnnie—Neither would I cry if I could have my hair combed over the back of a chair.

Young Smith—You didn't stay very long at The Poplars last evening, where you went to see the Pipps girl.

Young Brown—No, I didn't. Old Pipps broke in on us and gave me a hint to go.

'What did he say?'

'He opened the outside door and asked me what I thought of rapid transit.'

'What did you do?'

'I gave him an immediate illustration of it.'

THE BLONDIN HORSE.

A Pony That Walks a Rope Stretched 30 Feet in Mid-Air.

We are enabled, through the courtesy of a gentleman who was in New York during the combined 'Wild West' and Forepaugh Show's remarkable run of 153 performances in that city, and who attended the exhibition, to give our readers some interesting facts about Adam Forepaugh, Jr.'s high-rope-walking horse, 'Blondin,' which for months has been the talk of the country. This gentleman personally met Adam Forepaugh, Jr. He describes him as old for his years, quick of discernment, forcible of character and indomitable of will—characteristics which have undoubtedly been the secret of his almost incredible success in training the lower animals. The performance of the Blondin horse, says our informant, was a constant source of wonder. That a horse could be taught and induced to walk a rope, stretched in mid-air high above the heads of the audience, seemed preposterous until he had witnessed it with his own eyes. A heavy cable is stretched between two stationary platforms, elevated 30 feet above the arena. The intelligent horse, holding his head high in the air, as though conscious of the thousands of eyes that are watching his every motion, ascends an inclined plane to one of the platforms, and, taking his position in front of the rope, awaits with evident impatience the signal to start upon his perilous journey. When it is given he places his forefeet carefully upon the rope, as though, like a human walker, he would test its strength. Then, without further hesitation, he slowly but fearlessly walks across the intervening space to the second platform. Turning, he retraces his journey and descends to the arena. The effect upon the audience is electric, and the daring horse and his remarkable trainer share in the thundering applause.

Amazing acrobatic feats, sensational horsemanship, Roman standing and chariot races, and other amphitheatrical sports, the famous Forepaugh Menagerie and the thrilling 'Wild West' exhibition are among the attractions that Impresario Forepaugh will present here, at Glass Works Meadows, on Saturday, May 24.

FREE EDUCATION FOR GIRLS.

How Girls Can Get a College Education Without Cost.

A most praiseworthy movement is about to be set on foot by the The Ladies Home Journal of Philadelphia It proposes to give to any young gir of 16 years or over who will send to it, between now and January 1st, 1891, the largest number of yearly subscribers to the Journal, a complete education at Vassar College or any other American college she may select. The education offered includes every branch of study, with every expense paid, the Journal agreeing to educate the girl irrespective of the time required or the expense involved. To this is also pinned a second offer which guarantees to any girl of 16 or over who will secure 1000 yearly subscribers before Juanary 1st, a full term of one year at Vassar or any other college with all expenses paid, thus making it possible for any number o young girls to receive free educations a the best colleges. Any girl can enter into the competition, and any such can be thoroughly posted by simply writing to the Ladies Home Journal at 435 Arch street, Philadelphia. The management says that it has been led to its generous offers by the fact that there are thousands of parents throughout the country anxious to educate their daughters, and yet who can not afford the expense. This step helps to a comparatively easy solution of the problem, since it throws a free education into the hands of any bright and active girl. The Journal's movement is one that certainly cannot be too highly commended and praised

Mother—Come in now, Tommy, and put on your clean clothes.

Tommy (playing ball in the back lot)—All right. Soon's I make a base it.

Mother (two hours later)—You, Thomas! Come right here, sir.

Thomas obeys and gets a sound thrashing, which he bears heroically, remarking at the close. 'Served me just right, so it did.'

Mother—For not obeying mamma?

Tommy—No. For not making a base hit on that chump of a pitcher.

"If dah is anything I does hate," said the gentleman who does odd jobs for the family, "hit am dissher small disposition to look down wuf suspicion on de cullud race."

"Why, Uncle, nobody has been regarding your race with suspicion,"

"Maybe not; but my son Ephraiam tells me dat dah is one ob dese new patent locks on you hen roos', and he sut'ny do feel hurt."

It is hard to say which is the most helpless, the little baby or the great big man when he is asked to hold it.

A YOUNG TENNESSEE HEROINE.

Nashville American.

Near Gainsboro occurred an incident the story of which reads more like a romance than truth, yet it is vouched for by Judge Fite, one of Tennessee's most distinguished jurists. It was while the angry Cumberland was in his most violent mood, when the swift flowing waters were at their highest, that brave Mica Hall, a frail young girl of 15 years, performed an act of heroism which should emblazon her name high upon the scroll of fame.

Mica's brother, Comer Hall, and another young man, both aged 18, were in a canoe catching driftwood in the middle of the stream. The weather was intensely cold and both young men had on their heavy overcoats and heavy underclothes. Suddenly the canoe was upset and both boys were thrown into the stream. The current at this point is very swift and the canoe quickly went to the bottom of the river. The brave young fellows began to struggle desperately to save themselves but the heavy clothing weighed them down so that they could make little headway against the angry waters which bore them swiftly down stream.

Some distance down the river is a small island, which was covered at the time by about four or five feet of water. Young Hall's companion landed against this island and managed by the most desperate efforts to maintain his position upon it.

Poor Comer, however, was not so fortunate. In his efforts to escape he continued to float farther and farther away. About 300 yards from where his companion lodged Comer floated against a tree top, and clung to it with a desperation born of despair.

All this time young Hall's mother and 15-year-old sister, Mica, were standing at the edge of the water several hundred yards from where he had lodged. They were, in truth at the edge of great sheet of water which had backed up from the river. The frenzied mother saw the desperate struggle of her son to save himself, and, wringing her hands in grief at the thought of his meeting death in the bosom of the angry river, was almost ready to plunge into the water and make an effort to reach him.

Then it was, in the supreme hour of peril, that the heroic young girl ran back to the barn and secured a horse. Seizing hold of the halter she pulled him down to the edge of the water, and, tearing off her clothing, jumped upon the back of the animal with the words, 'Ma, I'll save Bud, or die,' and plunged into the icy waters. Far down the streams her fast tiring brother clung to the tree top, the agonized mother expecting every moment to see him sink into the river, never to rise again.

Mica urged the trembling animal forward until he struck deep water, where it was with the greatest effort the shivering girl could keep his head straight toward the boy.

The waters surged and splashed against the brave rescuers, and every moment seemed an age. At last the tree was reached, and just as Comer was becoming unconscious he was seized by his heroic sister, pulled upon the back of the horse, and the battle for life began. The horse struggled desperately, but the poor girl held tenaciously to his mane, and, with one arm around the semi-conscious boy, finally managed to reach the bank far below where he had started in. Once safely upon terra firma, she gave way under the terrible strain, and it was several hours before she was able to recognize the assembled neighbors.

The other young man was rescued by a party of men, and Mica Hall is the heroine of the Upper Cumberland.

Was the phrase high and dry invented to apply to the tall gentleman from Kentucky?

While a man grows better pleased with himself, he may be growing less pleasing to others.

Always think before you speak. Very often you do wisely to take it all out in thinking.

It is better to lock the stable door after the horse is stolen than not to lock it at all. It may save the cow.

It looks as if the American eagle was in danger of being displaced as our National bird by the base ball bat.

Mother (to young son who had been dining with the neighbors)—Had a good dinner, Jimmy?

Jim—Tip top.

Mother—I hope you didn't ask twice for soup.

Jim—No, ma'am, I asked three times.

ROBERT NEILSON ..... Gen'l Supt

Paralyzed by a Scratch.

"I have read of men being paralyzed by a wound and unable to move," said a well known prominent Maine office holder to a Lewiston Journal man, "and I believe it. I know that there have been many cases of that kind, and one of them in particular has such a personal twist that I have good reason to remember it.

"It was at the battle of Chantilly in the early part of the fight. We had approached a low rambling fence—a Virginia fence, as they were called, and I saw the splinter fly from a piece of that fence under the impulse of a ball from the enemy.

"In the lightning flash of the flying wood I seemed to find time to dodge, and then there was a quick pain like the searing of a hot iron and the splinter was through my hat band and along my scalp, penetrating it but not injuring the skull.

"The blow was severe and stunned me, and I rem as well my last look at the scene—the fighting troops, the smoke, the battle and the tramping men.

"I felt back, my legs half doubled up beneath me, and in a moment my strength was gone and I was powerless. I saw everything. Men fell upon me Men trampled upon me. Horses reared around me. The battle was on all sides.

"My wits were clear, my brain unclouded, but there was I, dying a death momentarily, alive, yet dead and suffering more tortures than I thought life could have. I lay there perhaps half an hour—every moment a year of agony—when I felt some one's hand on my collar, and I was dragged out and turned on my face, where I lay for a moment as some one rifled my cartridge box.

"The motion saved me. My pulse seemed to stir, my heart beat, my will to re-exert itself, and in a few minutes I was myself. The wound was so small that I staunched it with my handkerchief and in half an hour I was as well as ever.

"If the hand had not found my coat collar I should have been bleaching my bones on Chantilly at this moment instead of here talking to you and it would have been tough to have passed in on such a scratch."

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned, having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease "Consumption," is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge) a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all throat and lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his Remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing and may prove a blessing, will please address, REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburg, Kings County, New York.

Not Much, You Wont.

County Chairman Lawrence L Brown, present leader of the Republican party of Centre county, arrived here yesterday and tarried over night at the Fallon House, leaving for his home in Bellefonte at nine o'clock this morning. Mr. Brown is an active worker for his party and in the present contest is a strong friend of Gen. Hastings. Politically he is 'way off, but personally is an excellent citizen, a very pleasant gentleman and popular with all parties. Facially, Mr. Brown is handsome enough to be a Democrat and we have often wondered how he could lend so much good lookingness to the advancement of such a bad cause. But, being an intelligent and well informed man, we still have hopes of him and have confident expectations of hearing him some day shout for Democracy and Gen. Jackson.—Lock Have Democrat.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

—The Lock Haven papers are making a terrible fuss about McClellan's circus which is to be in that place one week from to-day. Bellefonte would not have such a one-horse show stop here. Why they only have a clown, a monkey, one wagon and a jack—a—a—jack rabbit.

—The Grand Army men are going to put a stop to impostors wearing the Grand Army badge and button. Men who were not born until after the war was over have worn the button and imposed upon good people on the strength of wearing it. The Legislature passed a stringent law against this practice, and the veterans of the order are going to see that it is carried out. The arrest and punishment of a few offenders will have a very salutary effect.

Excursion to Lewisburg.

On next Wednesday the Pennsylvania railroad at this place will sell excursion tickets to Lewisburg, Pa., for $2.63, good to return on Thursday. It will be the occasion of the dedication of the Beaver Memorial church at that place, and will undoubtedly be an occasion of great moment.

DR. WARNER'S celebrated Coraline Health Corsets have one peculiarity which pertains only to corsets of their make. The bust retains its shape to the end, and the corset imparts to the wearer a well-proportioned and beautiful figure. The corset is boned with Coraline, a substance superior to the finest whalebone. Made in short, medium and extra long waists.

There are many imitations, but you will find "Dr. Warner's Coraline" printed on the inside of every genuine corset. They are sold by your nearest dry goods dealer.

—We know of one single lady and a couple married ones who say that Mr. W. I. Fleming, the tailor, is the handsomest man in Centre county, and we are not positive that they are far wrong.

—The new Garman Opera house is going along rapidly and, if the weather continues nice, the brick work will all be up in less than a week. The REPUBLICAN will, in a few days, publish a complete description of how the building will be finished.

—When the evening shades are falling the inmates of the several offices in the court house come out of their holes and indulge in a little exercise of "catch.' Fat Willie Harter seems to be the leading spirit. District attorney Meyer is quite an expert while Register Rupp delivers a swift, overhand ball.

ANNUAL ASSESSMENT—Appeals for 1890—Notice is hereby given to the tax payers of Centre county that the County Commissioners will hear and determine appeals at the Commissioners' office, in Bellefonte, for the respective districts, as follows:

Pianos-Organs.

The improved method of fastening strings of Pianos, invented by us, is one of the most important improvements ever made, making the instrument more richly musical in tone, more durable, and less liable to get out of tune.

Both the Mason & Hamlin Organs and Pianos excel chiefly in that which is the chief excellence in any musical instrument, quality of tone. Other things, though important, are much less so than this. An instrument with unmusical tones cannot be good. Illustrated catalogues of new styles, introduced this season, sent free.

Forced to Leave Home.

Over 60 people were forced to leave their homes yesterday to call at their druggist's for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine. If your blood is bad, your liver and kidneys out of order, if you are constipated and have headache and an unsightly complexion, kon't fail to call on any druggist to day for a free sample of this good remedy. The ladies praise it. Everyone likes it. Large-size packages 50 cents.

Dr. M. L. Frazier, the eminent specialist of Cleveland, O., is at the Brockerhoff House for a few days only. Persons troubled with Corns, Bunions, and Ingrowing nails will find it to their interest to call upon him.

BRIEF MENTION.

The disagreement between the two branches of congress on pension legislation will probably result in a conference committee being instructed to prepare a bill on a line with the service measure passed by the senate and containing a dependent clause, and with the age limit lowered.

Governor Nicholls, in his message to the Louisiana legislature, takes strong grounds against the extension of the charter of the Louisiana Lottery company. The company, he declares, is an outrage on other states, and a disgrace to his own.

The United States house sub-committee on elections have returned from Arkansas, where they were investigating the Clayton-Breckinridge contest. It is said the committee are satisfied that Clayton's murder was a political one and that Breckinridge is not entitled to the seat he holds.

Gen. Frederick Middleton, commanding the Canadian militia, has been found guilty of looting furs during the late northwest rebellion, by the Canadian parliament, and his dismissal from service has been recommended.

The New York customs officials have seized the ballet costumes belonging to the English dancers under the management of T. Henry French, because the young women said the articles were their personal wearing apparel.

Stephen Moore, of Pittsburg, Pa., aged 26 years, died from pulmonary phthisis, caused, he said, by bad food and cruel treatment whilst a pupil in the Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind in Philadelphia.

Henry Latshaw, a miner, living at Fiddler Green, near Shamokin, Pa., disappeared from home on May 1 and returned on May 9. He says he walked a great many miles, being controlled by an unseen power.

Assemblyman Kerr, of Paterson, N. J., introduced a bill proposing amendments to the constitution by which assemblymen shall be elected every two years and senators for four years.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is continually proving its merit as a valuable medicine, by the many cures it is accomplishing. This positive merit is the secret of its wonderful and unparalleled success. All we ask of any one needing a good medicine is that Hood's Sarsaparilla be given a fair trial. We know that it is prepared with the greatest care from the best ingredients it is possible to obtain, that its Peculiar Combination, Proportion and Process do give it superior curative power, and that for all diseases or affections caused by impure blood or low state of the system, it is absolutely unequalled. It will cure, when in the power of medicine, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Sores, Boils, Pimples, all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Complaints, etc.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I suffered a great while with dyspepsia. I was urged to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have taken two bottles. It has entirely cured me of dyspepsia, and a scrofulous affection has also entirely disappeared. I can hardly find words to express my high appreciation of Hood's Sarsaparilla." ALLEN H. MELHOLM, City Hotel, Lancaster, Penn.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

100 Doses One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but possessing just those elements which the system needs and readily seizes, Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up in a perfectly natural way, all the weakened parts, acts upon the blood as a purifier and vitalizer, assists to healthy action the kidneys and liver.

"I have sold three times as much Hood's Sarsaparilla as of all others combined, in my 17 years in business." W. D. MELICK, Sunbury, Penn.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla and find that it accomplishes all that is claimed. I was troubled with a breaking out of the skin, commonly called 'hives.' Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me immediate relief. I can cheerfully recommend it to all those similarly troubled." WM. GALLAGHER, Weighmaster 9th Ward Gas Works, Philadelphia, Penn.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"Seven years ago, my little boy was bitten by a spider. The poison entered his blood, and sores soon broke out about his body; they itched terribly and caused him intense suffering. Finally we tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, and he took one bottle and one-third of another, when the sores disappeared. He has not a sore spot on him now, and is perfectly cured." WM. H. B. WARD, Downington, Penn.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I have taken two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla for salt rheum and dyspepsia, with which I was troubled very much. After taking this medicine I am feeling as well as ever in my life. I consider and advertise to others that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier." G. W. ROSE, Pottsville, Penn.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For three years I suffered with dyspepsia, growing so bad that I was at one time completely broken down in health. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla on trial, and seeing that it was doing me good, continued with it. After taking six bottles I gained strength and appetite and was restored to my former health." A Sad Condition.

I suffered for five years with the worst form of Blood Poison, during which time I was attended by the best physicians I could find, and tried numbers of proprietary medicines without any beneficial results. I continued to grow worse all this time, until my whole system was destroyed by the vile disease; my tongue and throat having great holes caused by it. I then commenced taking Swift's Specific (S S S), and in a few months I was entirely cured, and to this great medicine do I attribute my recovery. This was over two years ago, and I have had no return, or any effects of the disease since, and my skin is today as smooth and clean as anybody's.

4-Paw and the Wild West.

The Forepaugh and "Wild West" combination will exhibit in this city in all its radiant beauty, and fresh from its enormously-profitable series of engagements, on Glass Works meadow Saturday May 24.

Speaking of the varied features of this most remarkable tented exhibition, the Philadelphia Ledger says:

"Of the 25,000 people who crowded the tents at Forepaugh's great show yesterday, and cheered the battle of the Little Big Horn, few appreciated the fact that the scout in the realistic scene was the bona fide Sergeant Wagner, who took General Custer's orders to Major Keno just before the historical massacre.

"He has lost one of his legs in war, and daily in the 'play battle,' which is real enough for the most people, takes the same part that he did when things were terribly in earnest. Capt. Bogardus who impersonates General Custer, writes his last dispatch on Sergeant Wagner's shoulder and charges away to die horribly.

"The applause given the little trapez horse Eclipse, by the thousands makes the black stallions snort with envy. Europe's star gymnast like the 'blasted' country has yelled its admiration at them. Hundreds of bald-headed gentlemen who 'took the children' yesterday were heard whispering to each other that Miss Ashton, the principal bareback artiste, 'was a daisy.' The Great Roman Hippodrome, the Mountain Meadow Massacre, and General Sherridan's Ride gave general satisfaction.

"The show always ends in cheers, because the last act is that of young Adam Forepaugh riding forty horses around the hippodrome track at Chicago Limited Express gait."

"A Dandy Court."

The Johnstown Tribune under the above caption refers to the hall of justice in Cambria county, which is noted for the liberality with which applicants for liquor license are treated:

"During last week some singular incidents occurred in the court at Ebensburg. For instance one of the attorneys was swaggering drunk during the progress of a trial and became so "humorous" and offensive as to require the attention of the judge. Again in the Peters gambling house case, it is alleged the attorney for defendant prepared the bill of indictment for the prosecuting attorney The bill as everybody knows, did not hold water. Is it likely that a defendant lawyer would prepare a bill of indictment against his client that would stand? And still again may be cited the case already referred to, where an attorney for the prosecution referred to the defendant as the '—— ——liar in Cambria county,' the remark attracting no particular attention from either the court or bar, just as if such incidents were of common occurrence. Cambria has a "dandy court."

Call for the Republican State Convention

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE,
Philadelphia, April 23, 1890.

The Republican State Convention will be held in the Opera House at Harrisburg on Wednesday, June 25, 1890, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Governor Lieutenat Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, and for the transaction of other business.

The attention of Republicans throughout the State is respectfully directed to the following permanent rules for the holding of State conventions and the conduct of the party.

FIRST, That delegates to the State convention shall be chosen in the manner in which candidates for the general assembly are nominated.

SECOND. Hereafter the State conventions of the Republican party shall be held not earlier than the third Wednesday of August, except in the year of the Presidential election, when it shall be held not more than thirty days previous to the day fixed for the National Convention, and except in Gubernatorial years. At least sixty days' notice shall be given of the date of the State Convention.

THIRD, That we recommend to the county organizations, that in their rules they allow the largest freedom in the general participation in the primaries consistent with the preservation of the party organization.

The State convention of June 30, 1886, having abolished Senatorial representation, delegates to the approaching State convention will be selected according to the number of Representatives in the Legislature to which each county or city is entitled under the Representative Apportionment law passed by the Legislature of 1887.

By resolution of the State Committe.

THE VALUE OF A WIFE.

A Judge Estimates a Good One at $6,000 But Says a Poor One is Worth Nothing.

A special dispatch from Altoona on Saturday is as follows:

Same years ago James McConnell, one of the most skilled mechanics in the employ of the P. R. R. Co., in Altoona, married a most estimable lady and moved to Roanoke, Va., where he had obtained a responsible position in railroad shops. A year or so after this, while his wife was passing along a street one day, a brick fell from a building in course of erection and struck her on the head, resulting in her death. Mr. McConnell sued for damages and was awarded $6,000. On the trial evidence tending to show that the deceased had been a superior wife was offered, and the jury was presumably influenced by this in rendering its verdict. The defendants objected to proof as to the character of the wife, and carried the issue to the highest court of the State.

That tribunal has just rendered its decision and it affirms the verdict, holding that evidence of the wife's character and of her value to her husband was perfectly admissable and proper. The Court says.

"If the character and conduct of the wife be such that her death will cause but little sorrow, suffering and mental anguish to the husband, then the fair and just proportion of the damages to be awarded by the jury will be measured accordingly. But if the wife be loving, tender and dutiful to her husband; thrifty, industrious, economical and prudent—as the evidence in this case proved Mrs. McConnell to be—then her price is far above rubies, and the loss of such a wife, of such a helpmeet, of such influence, of such a blessed and potent ministry and companionship, is a proper element of damages to be considered by the jury in fixing the solatium to be awarded to the husband for tearing her from his heart and home."

—Elsewhere in this issue we announce the name of Capt. H. H. He is a man who has the ability and the good sense to know how to use it in the proper way. Should he be elected Sheriff we know he would make a good official and, if given the nomination, we believe he will get there.

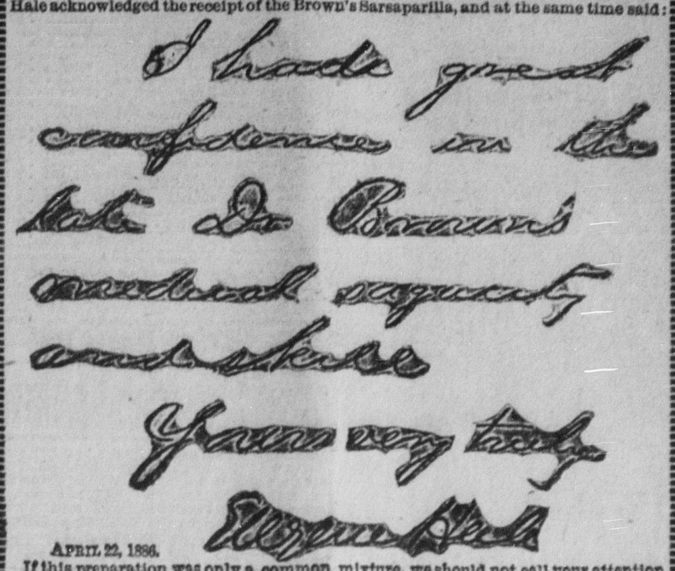
Help to Mothers Nursing.

Mothers who have the care and draught of nursing infants need the aid of strengthening tonic to make up the nourishment required for the growth of the child. Ale, porter, and lager beer have often been recommended. Of late, since physicians have become aware that the Port Wine produced by Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J., is strictly pure, they have prescribed it instead of ale or porter, as being more blood making. This wine is principally sought for by mothers who have nursing infants at the breast, as the best supplying medium to be found. The wine is rich in body and not intoxicant but gently stimulating and makes good blood. Druggists generally keep it, and sell it for a dollar a bottle.—Enquirer

A Senator's Opinion.

HON. EUGENE HALE, United States Senator from Maine, was a life-long friend and companion of Dr. Wm. H. Brown. He employed him professionally; had opportunities of observing him at his practice, and considered him one of the ablest men of his time. Mr. Hale had occasion, after the death of Dr. Brown, to use his preparation of Sarsaparilla, and sent a message from Washington requesting that a case of the great family medicine be forwarded, which was complied with at once. In due season Mr. Hale acknowledged the receipt of the Brown's Sarsaparilla, and at the same time said:



APRIL 22, 1886.

If this preparation was only a common mixture, we should not call your attention to it, but it is unlike any other ever formulated; has been in use by eminent physicians for years, and is to-day the best remedy, in every sense of the word, in the world, for all forms of kidney, liver and blood diseases, and never fails to cure. Now is the time to cleanse the system, purify the blood, revive the liver and give tone and elasticity to the whole body. You can do it with a bottle of

He Went Into the Water!

His faith may not have been that of the Dunkard, but we have no doubt he felt as though he had been dipped. We mean the brakeman on the passenger train that went through Bellefonte at 8.55 Saturday evening. When making the coupling on the Forpaugh show advertising car, which was standing on the siding near the race, the young man stepped back out of the way of the engine but, he stepped back too far, and landed in water waist deep. It was a very sudden bath and we have yet to hear how he enjoyed it.

The Boy was Tall.

From the Williamsport Republican.

Their gun, which is seemingly considered such a harmless toy by many Williamsport parents that they have four or five in the family to keep the children from growing restless, was at work again yesterday, and sent a ball from itself through a board, and from there into the limb of a boy who was opposite the one who had the gun. Fortunately the boy who stood in front of the gun was tall and the ball missed his head. On this account, and not because the gun is a bad one, the boy is alive.

The wigton Coal Tolls Suit.

R. B. Wigton & Sons on Friday filed, in Court of Common Pleas, No. 4, a new suit, and with a new statement of their claim against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the excess of coal freights paid the company, and for damages for discrimination against the firm. The total damages laid by Wigton & Sons are $397,196.22.

Of this claim $107,196.22 is for freight overpaid by Wigton & Sons, counting as a basis the lowest rate given any of its shippers of coal from the Clearfield region. The firms of J.C. Scott & Sons and Berwind, White & Co., are mentioned as the particular recipients of the favors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The discrimination charged is between March 1883, and January, 1890, of which $42,430.88 is for "line shipments" of coal; $25,658.58 for coal shipments to South Amboy; $11,073.94 for coal shipments to Greenwich, and $27.023.82 for the shipments of coal from South Amboy to Greenwich.

In addition to these claims for discrimination Wigton & Sons ask $280 000 damages. They say that from 1881 to 1885, their mines had a capacity of 250,000 tons. It is claimed that by reason of the discrimination in freight rates made between Wigton & Sons and the favored shippers, and because the Railroad Company gave earlier information of rebates to other coal miners, the business of Wigton & Sons was so reduced that they were able to put out between 1881 and 1884 only 222,000 tons a year, and only 70,000 tons a year since then. The damage claimed is upon the basis of 20 cents per ton for the deficiency between the shipments and the capacity of the mines, which was 125,000 tons per year from 1881 to 1885, amounting to $100,000, and 180,000 tons from 1885 to 1890, amounting to $180,000.

"Another Bellefonter" Speaks.

Mr. Editor :—I notice in your issue of the 7th, a communication from "A Bellefonter" volunteering some vague suggestions to the Ladies of Bellefonte, as to their duties looking to the "beautifying of our town." Incidentally there were, however, in the same communication, some implied prohibitions upon the self-sacrificing work many of the best ladies of our community are now engaged in, and a cynical slur upon the work already done by them toward beautifying the town. I venture to assert (without the slightest knowledge as to identity), that your correspondent is a woman; that she is one, who never by word, deed, or thought added one vote either to the physical, or moral beauty of the place; whose God is self; who would gladly see the town "beautiful," so long as she be not asked to contribute either financial, or moral support to the project. Why? may I ask; does a "Bellefonter" deem it necessary that a work which embraces on its top, the suppression of vice, the purity of youth, the elevation of humanity, should cease in order that the more important work of "keeping the cows off the streets" should go on?

Let the work of the Christian women go on; let religion, temperance, purity prevail, and our town will grow beautiful by very necessity, is the belief of

"Tired All the Time,"

Say many poor men and women, who seem overworked, or are debilitated by change of season, climate or life. If you could read the hundreds of letters praising Hood's Sarsaparilla which come from people whom it has restored to health, you would be convinced of its merits. As this is impossible, why not try Hood's Sarsaparilla yourself and thus realize its benefit? It will tone and build up your system, give you a good appetite, overcome that tired feeling and make you feel, as one woman expresses it, "like a new creature." j-1

Life is Too Short.

And time and money too precious, to be frittered away in the trial of uncertain means of cure, when one is afflicted with any lingering or chronic ailment of the liver, lungs or blood. Now, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is such a positive remedy for all such ills, as to warrant its manufacturers in selling it, as they are doing, through druggists, on condition that if it don't do all that it is recommended to, the money paid for it will be promptly refunded. There are a great many blood purifiers advertised, but only the "Golden Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce could sustain itself and be sold under such trying conditions. To sell any ordinary medicine under such a guarantee, would bankrupt its proprietors, but with the "Golden Medical Discovery" all that is asked for it is a fair trial. and if it don't do all that it is advertised to, the manufacturers will cheerfully and promptly refund all money paid for it. By this singularly peculiar method of business, alike liberal to the purchasers and exacting to the manufacturers, the invalid can be sure of getting the value of his money, which is not true of any other medicine.

All diseases arising from a torpid liver, or from impure or poisoned blood, are conquered by the "Golden Medical Discovery." Especially has it manifested its marvelous potency in curing Saltrheum, Tetter, Eczema, Psoriasis, Impertigo, Eyrsipelas, and all skin and scalp diseases, no matter of how long standing. Scrofulous affections, sores and swellings as fever sores, white swelling, hip-joint disease and kindred ailments yield to its positive, purifying, strengthening and healing properties. Lung scrofula (commonly known as Consumption of the Lungs) also yields to it, if it be taken in time and given a fair trial. Contains no alcohol to inebriate, no syrup or sugar to ferment and impair digestion; as wonderful in its curative results as it is peculiar in composition. Don't accept any substitute, said to be "just as good" that the dealer may make a larger profit.

—The spotted fever near Franklin, Tenn., is unusually fatal, nine out of every ten persons attacked dying. The fever had a brief run in Sumner and Webster counties about two months ago, but disappeared. Last week it reappeared and within forty-eight hours had taken five lives. Since then a dozen more have died, and the people of the stricken districts have about concluded to abandon it forever, as this is the fifth visitation of the fever. Farms and all kind of stock can be bought for a song.

—Elsewhere in this paper will be found the announcement of Mr. John F. Harter as a candidate for the nomination for Recorder. During the past three years Mr. Harter has filled that office very creditably, and the Republican party would have to search for a long time before it would find a better man. Mr. Harter is deserving of it and if he is given the nomination we predict that he will be elected by a good round majority.

—The prettiest and sweetest girl in Philipsburg gets up at 5 a. m., prepares breakfast while the mother enjoys her morning nap; walks half a mile at six o'clock; puts the house in proper condition for the day; devotes one hour to the practice of her music lesson; is ready for every little duty and averages seven proposals for marriage a week. —Philipsburg Journal. Wonder how many of the above kind of girls there are in Bellefonte.

The Howard Postoffice.

"Forgeman," of Howard, writes thusly to the Tyrone Herald:

In the appointment of Mr H T Lucas to the postoffice at this place, the government took a great weight off the writer's shoulders, and probably saved him a skip to Canada on account of shortage in his mail accounts; who knows? Some of the other "slaughtered" candidates feel a little sore over their defeat, and threaten to go back on the returns, but up to this writing, the undersigned ~~feels~~ no symptoms of backsliding whatever, from the "faith once delivered to the saints."

The principles of the Republican party are of eighteen carat in firmness, and as solid as adamant. and if officials do sometimes err, that is their funeral, and the damages should not be charged up to the party. Of course the most of "us" candidates are poor men, some of "us" even "fought, bled and died" for our country, but none of these things moves the writer; and when the editor of the Herald writes Forgeman's obituary, as per contract, I want this sentence put in big capitals, "He fought a good fight, he finished his course, he kept the faith."

The failure in the government to force the responsibilities of the post office on us, will enable us to devote more of our time to fishing, and as fish is a kind of phosphate or brain food, we expect to cultivate our brain up to a point, that will enable us to get ahead of the other fellow, the next time there is an important position to fill.

Jesse Middleward, Decator, Ohio, says "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at W. C. Keplinger & Co's drug store.

Demorest's Magazine.

Last month we visited Washington through the pages of Demorest's Family Magazine, and enjoyed the very interesting views of the exterior of the White House and its surroundings. This month, in the June number of this popular Magazine (which has just arrived), we enter the Executive Mansion, and are treated to a ramble through its corridors, its executive and private apartments. We thus participate in the special favor shown to Demorest's Magazine, as we are introduced to many features not usually seen by the general public. The White House has never before been so fully and beautifully illustrated; and the numerous handsome pictures which the article contains, including portraits of "Baby McKee," Mrs. Harrison, and the four generations now residing in the White House, make it especially interesting to every American father, mother, and child. This number also contains a picture of four of "mother's darlings" "Out for an Airing," which is a superb water-color, equal in design and execution to those selling at a high price at the art stores; "Athletics for Women" is also finely illustrated; and "The Lady Tramp" will no doubt start many of "Our Girls" off on that healthful exercise, for it tells them just what to do and what to wear when doing it. All the other Departments are full to overflowing with entertaining and helpful matter, and the stories are particularly good. A remarkable 20 cents worth, surely. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th St., New York.

What the Third Party is Doing.

The Prohibition State Executive Committee met in Harrisburg on Thursday to fix the time and place for the meeting of the State convention of the party. Among those present were Chairmain Stevens, ex-Chairman Barker, of Cambria; James Black, of Lancaster; Elisha Kent Kane, of McKean; W. W Hague, of Tidioute, and Agib Ricketts brother of General R. Bruce Riccetts The 15th and 16th of July were selected as the time for the meeting of the Convention, and after a hot fight Harrisburg was chosen as the place, closely pressed by Scranton.

At the meeting of the Executive Committee it was developed that the last campaign was prosecuted with $2,100, and that the committee had funds in the treasury, as nucleus for another fight for the election of Prohibitionists to office. A State league organization has been, perfected in 50 counties of the State. Candidates for Governor on the Prohibition ticket are springing up in all directions. Among those prominently named are W W. Hague, of Warren county; H. T. Hains, of Williamsport, and John E. Gill of Greensburg.

Change in Time Table.

Over the Snow Shoe and Bellefonte railroad there was be a change in the schedule of the incoming and outgoing train in the afternoon on and after Monday, May 12th. The incoming train will leave Snow Shoe at 3 o'clock p. m. and arrive at 4.50. Going out it will leave Bellefonte at 5.25 and arrive at Snow Shoe at 7. This is the only change that will effect Bellefonte.

The opinion is that the market will be overstocked until the new crop comes in ENTERPRISE.

A Brief Description of Centre County's Leading Industry, the

BELLEFONTE FURNACE CO.

A "DAILY NEWS" REPRESENTATIVE VISITS AND INSPECTS THEIR

VAST FIELDS OF IRON ORE.

A JOURNEY OVER THE BUFFALO RUN RAILROAD—PLOWING THE SURFACE AND WASHING OUT THE IRON—A MAMMOTH ENTERPRISE.

Eight, ten or twenty years ago Centre county was supposed, yes conceeded to have a good iron ore and raw iron trade. Bellefonte thought it was favored by having one furnace almost within a stone's throw and several others within that radius that, very ordinarily, increased the trade of supply and demand, not only in the iron ore, charcoal, (charcoal being the only coal then used for a furnace in Centre county) and the necessary material for the manufacture of the ore into pig iron, but also for the necessities of life, dry goods, clothing, wheat, groceries flour, feed, etc.

At that early day probably no one ever dreamed of anything greater ever being erected. Hence now, were some of those old operators who are now long smouldering in the dust, to rise from their graves and take a walk out around the "old fair ground," they would hardly believe their own eyes. That such a mammoth iron manufacturing industry should spring up on the very grounds on which those old-timers were want to pass away a week or two every year, watching horse racing and looking at the pretty girls and big potatoes, would seem to them almost incredible and yet to the present generation it is not thought much of. We venture the assertion, however, that there are not two dozen people in Bellefonte, or Centre county, for that matter—outside of those immediately connected therewith, that know the exact dimensions or output of these works, or realize what a boon they are to Centre county.

THE FURNACE, ETC.

The furnace of the Bellefonte Furnace Company is one of the latest and best improved in the State, and the enterprising managers are constantly adding thereoe in some way or other to facilitate the manufacture of the raw ore. Its capacity is as large, if not larger, than that of any other furnace in this part of the State. The average output now is about 625 tons per week, which is an average of a little over one hundred tons per day. This average they can hold the year round, counting out all stops for repairs. By this the output for one year would be over 37,000 tons, and for the three years the furnace has been in operation almost 120,000 tons of pig iron.

The reader can judge of the good quality of the iron made, from the fact that of all that one hundred and twenty thousand tons the company has less than five hundred tons on hand, and it is being shipped as fast as cars can be procured, and, in addition, the next orders ahead for twenty five hundred tons. The ore is shipped both east and west, the most of it, however, east; a goodly portion to New Haven and other points in Connecticut. Everywhere the iron is recieved it is universally acknowledged to be a first class product. In and around the furnace are employed about 250 men and boys. Everything is done with machinery that it is possible to do. All the hauling is done with engines on narrow guage roads. The quarries from which the limestone is obtained for fluxing the furnace are located on the opposite side the valley and on the line of the Buffalo Run railroad, which make them within easy reach of the furnace—it only taking a couple of minutes to run a train load of stone from the quarries to the furnace. The ore that is used in this furnace is all obtained up the Buffalo Run valley and it is to the kindness of the genial, good looking and whole souled Superintendent, Mr. Thomas A. Shoemaker, who invited us to accompany him on a special train on Wednesday afternoon, that we are indebted to for a view, description and inspection of all the mines operated by the company.

THE ORE MINES VISITED.

Most of our readers have doubtless traversed the Buffalo Run railroad so we will not stop to discuss the ride up the valley. Starting at the furnace the train did not stop, only to take on water, until the terminus of the road was reached at the Nittany bank, near State College. This is the most inexpensive bank of any operated. There are no cuts or excavations. The surface of the earth is simply loosened with an ordinary field plough, then loaded into carts and hauled to the washer. In this way twenty five men wash about 40 tons per day of the best and cleanest hematite ore to be found in Centre county. The company have leased the ore right on 150 acres of land at this place and, from present indications, it will be years before the supply can be exhausted. After leaving Nittany bank we returned to the Junction and from there proceeded up the branch road to the Mattern bank. We will just here say that these banks have been in operation about three years and the reader can figure for himself the amount of ore that has been taken out and the immense holes opened up from which it was taken. At this bank, the Blair bank and the Red bank, all of which were visited, the average daily output, when in operation, ranges from 100 to 150 tons. At all these places ponderous machinery has been erected and hundreds of men are employed. Here the ore seems to lay in drifts and pockets and it requires an experienced man to be able to tell where to work to get the richest and largest supply of ore, At the Mattern bank it requires about five ton of clay to produce one ton of iron. At the Nittany bank it only requires about three and one-half.

The water that is used for washing the ore is all obtained from artesian wells unk in the earth. At the Nittany banks the well is 280 feet deep, at the Mattern 316 feet and at the others from three to four hundred. The water, after the mud has settled, is pumped back into the tanks and used over again.

The entire output of these four mines, representing about 600 acres of land, aggregates about 350 tons per day when they are all in operation. To produce this amount requires the labor of about 350 men, and in the neighborhood of fifty horses and carts, besides a lot of cars. The ore is all consumed in the manufacture of the stated amount of pig iron at the furnace. Of course, it must not be supposed that the output of ore will average 350 tons daily the year round ; these figures only represent the average daily output when all the mines are in operation. Having shown you this part of the Bellefonte Furnace Company's works, we will now try to give the figures total of the benefit Bellefonte and Centre county derives from this enterprise.

SOME BIG FIGURES

The Bellefonte Furnace Company employs, in toto, fully 800 men. This includes the employees of the Buffalo Run railroad, repair shops, stone quarries, ore mines, furnace, etc. For common unskilled labor the company pays 11 cents per hour ; the men are all worked eleven hour turns, thus giving them $1.21 cents per day. Skilled labor is, of course, higher in price, ranging according to the labor and requirements. These 800 employees represent an average monthly pay roll of $30,000. Just think of it ! Labor given every day in the year to 800 men and to these 800 men is paid in one year about $375,000. Is not this a wonderful enterprise, and a boon to Centre county—one of the best it now enjoys. The company is making money because they manufacture a superior grade of metal and hence find a ready sale for it. In the management of their business they employ only the most skilled men, and to this fact is partly due the wonderful success of their business, as they are there-by saved the annoyance and expense that undoubtedly would occur from hiring men who only half understood their business. Their employees, as a rule, are generally satisfied, and they very seldom have any trouble from even a threatened strike.

Mr. Thomas A. Shoemaker is the man who has the entire management of all this business, and it is entirely to his keen business foresight and ability that the Company has reached its present standing and dimensions. Mr. Shoemaker is as polite, affable and courteous as he is quick and alert in business. The DAILY NEWS hopes for the continued success and growth of this now prospering firm, and may the time be not far distant when the extension of their business interests, as has been already discussed, to Stone valley, be consummated and the richness of that valley and intervening lands be brought to swell the dimensions of their present successful business.

Look to Your Apple Trees.

In many parts of the country, apple trees yield a crop of fruit only every alternate year, the year represented by an odd number will be fruitful. In other places orchards bear every year. Some trees will produce a bountiful crop. Two seasons are required to produce a crop of apples ; that is during one season the fruit buds are developed, and during the next the fruit. All the vital energies of some trees are employed during one season to develop the fruit buds ; then the year following their entire vitality seems to be spent in developing the fruit without sufficient force being left to form fruit buds for the crop of the next season. Now in order to induce an apple tree to bear every season, climb into the top, or go up ladders just as one does when picking the ripe fruit, and with a pair of sharp shears clip off all the young fruit from about half the tree. Then fruit buds will form on that side of the tree from which the young apples were cut off. One half the top then will bear fruit one year, while the other half will yield fruit the next season.

FIETTA SENTENCED

THE COURT AVOWS BELIEF IN HER INNOCENCE BY PRONOUNCING

Almost the Minimum Penalty

How She Took It.—Other Sentences.—When They Will be Taken Away.—The Jail Will Soon be Empty.

On Thursday morning Fietta Weaver, convicted of voluntary manslaughter for the killing of her father-in-law; Maggie Spiece, who plead guilty to the charge of theft and felonious assault; and Alf. Davis, who plead guilty to the charge of robbery, were all brought before the Court and sentenced as follows:

Maggie Spiece and Alf Davis each one year in the Western Penitentiary. When Fietta Weaver was called before the Court to receive her sentence and was asked if she had ought to say why sentence should not be pronounced on her according to law, she replied that she was innocent. The Court then sentenced her to pay a fine of one dollar and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for the period of two years and three months. The Court said that if any circumstances arose in the future to justify same that he would interest himself in her behalf to secure for the prisoner a pardon.

All the above sentences are very mild. In the latter case the minimum penalty is $1 fine and eighteen months in the penitentiary, while extreme imprisonment is 12 years. All those sentenced was be taken to Allegheny City on Monday.

The sentence of the four puddlers who have been in jail since January court expired on Thursday but for some reason or other they were not discharged. They will be however on Saturday and, after they have gone, there will only remain in the county jail four prisoners. Very unlike the registry of several months ago when three murderers, besides a score of others, were confined within its walls.

—In giving extract from Bellefonte Democrat in Thursday's NEWS a typographical error made us say "John Bilger, ediior," when it should have been "John Bigler, editor." We have just been informed that Wm. Bigler, John's brother, was at that time a "typo" at the case in same office. William, at a late date, bundled up a printing press and material and departed from Bellefonte for Clearfield. John Bigler migrated to California, accompanied by Samuel Williams, father of Mrs. Charles McCafferty. The two Biglers were governors in 1852—30 years after the date recorded—the one of California and the other of Pennsylvania. In this connection we might say that Bellefonte "typos" and newspaper men have had the luck to make big men. William F. Packer, elected Governor from this county, learned the printer's trade in Bellefonte as did also HON. William Petriken, once Secretary of State. And more recently we might point to Adjutant General Hastings who was once a newspaper man in this office. Oh ! the Bellefonte printer will "get there" without doubt; it is only a question of time.

—It gives us pleasure to state that Rev. Miles O. Noll will arrive in town on Saturday coming and will preach in the Reformed church on Sunday, both morning and evening. Mr. Noll has finished his education, having graduated on Thursday from the Theological Seminary of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., and comes here to take charge of the Reformed congregation as their pastor. He has filled the pulpit temporarily, during a good portion of the past year, in a very able and acceptable manner, and, no doubt, our Reformed brethren and the people generally will be glad to learn that he is now locating here permanently.

—A sudden gloom was cast over the household of Rhodes Watkin, in Boggs township, in the death of Matilda, his wife, who was a daughter of George and Sarah Boyer, being violently attacked by the grip which soon ran into pneumonia ; she lasted about 8 days, and breathed her last on the 2nd of May 1890 ; aged 59 years, 2 months and 18 days. Her remains were interred in Fairview cemetery on Sunday following, in the presence of a large attendance of friends and acquaintances. She was an esteemed christian woman, and rests in Hope. Services were conducted by Rev. J. Zeigler.

—From present indications—whatever may be the fate of the peach crop—there is every reason for looking hopefully forward to an abundance of strawberries. Already very fine ones are arriving from the South,—and not very far South either—and prices are moderate, ranging according to quality from fifteen to twenty-five cents per quart at retail. When the Peninsula and Jersey and Pennsylvania begin to send in their quotes quantities and qualities will improve with the reasonable assurance that instead of appreciating, prices will be materially lower.

A FLOOD IN THE CONEMAUGH.

SEVERAL KILLED AND MANY BUILDINGS WASHED AWAY.—OTHER INTERESTING NOTES.

From the Bellefonte Democrat, July 30, 1881.

An item in the Conemaugh Republican of July 1 says : Within a few days past an unusual quantity of rain has fallen in this section of the country. The Conemaugh river and many of its tributary streams have not, we are informed, been so high for fifteen or twenty years. We regret to say that several lives, as well as much property, has been destroyed. Tub Mill creek rose to such an height as to sweep away everything in its course. A saw mill was carried down the stream to the aqueduct, and a two story stone house, occupied by John Mills, wife and two children, was also swept away and all the occupants drowned.

We are unable to state at this time, that accurate amount of damage sustained. Mr. Dixon's sawmill on McGee's run, below Blairsville, considerable damage has been done. Mr. Sengley's saw mill dam and a considerable quantity of lumber, the dam of Mr. Barnes, the turnpike bridge near his mill together with the trunk of the acqueduct at the mouth of this stream, were all swept away. Upwards of one hundred feet of Leech's dam and several miles of the tow path, above that place, were carried away. The salt works below Leechburg have also been destroyed. Navigation of the canal will, for a short time at least, be suspended."

The above is an account copied from an issue of the Democrat, a paper published in this place in the days of Jackson, John Bilger, editor. The paper is quite a relic, it belongs to and was loaned to us by Mr. Zeller. In addition to the above account of the flood in the Conemaugh—which, by the way, shows that the fearful flood of 1889 was not the only damage by water that that valley has sustained—there are accounts of the flood in Chester and other eastern counties.

But how long it took in those days to get the news. The paper in our possession was published on July 30, and the flood it records happened on the first of the same month; 30 days to get the news that we would now get in so many minutes. Dispatches appear headed the "Latest from Europe," and dated May 28 and June 1, two months previous.

At the head of the editorial column is the following :

Democratic Rpeublican Candidate

FOR PRESIDENT,

ANDREW JACKSON.

About two columns of the paper are devoted to "booming" the above candidate and, as history hath it recorded, he was elected. Words of praise are spoken for Governor George Wolf as well as a double leaded editorial calling on the President to "remove Dr. Randolph, Secretary of War for conduct unbecoming a gentleman."

A five line local records the killing of a mad dog while a four liner tells of the finding of lead ore in Wharton township, Fayette county. An obituary of the eminent Henry Hunt, Esq., is found on the first page, while just beneath it is an article entitled "Mormonism on the Wing," describing the spread of the then new creed at Painesville, Ohio.

All in all the paper is a relic worth carefully preserving and we have no doubt it will receive same from Mr. Zeller, to whom we are under obligations for the favor of being shown it.

Mrs. J. O. Loraine and family of Philipsburg, but who spent the winter in Florida, are soon to return home.

The story is told of a German, who took the hands of his clock to the maker to have them fixed, because they did not keep proper time. Of course, the clock-maker demanded the works, as in them lay the trouble. Boils and blotches, pimples and other eruptions on the exterior tell of a disordered condition of the blood within. If you have these indications, be wise in time, and take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the liver and kidneys in good working order, purifies the blood, cleanses the system from all impurities, from whatever cause arising, and tones up the functions generally.

"Golden Medical Discovery" checks the frightful inroads of Scrofula, and, if taken in time, arrests the march of Consumption of the Lungs (which is Lung-scrofula), purifies and enriches the blood, thereby curing all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Ulcers, Sores, Swellings, and kindred ailments. It is powerfully tonic as well as alterative, or blood-cleansing, in its effects, hence it strengthens the system and restores vitality, thereby dispelling all those languid, "tired feelings" experienced by the debilitated. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

"Golden Medical Discovery" is the only blood and lung remedy, sold by druggists, and guaranteed by its manufacturers, to do all that it is claimed to accomplish, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded.

Triumph of Pharmacy

The only true practical

ELIXIR OF LIFE AND HEALTH.

is one that promotes digestion, improves the appetite, cleanses the liver, purifies the blood, and stimulates brain and nerves without injurious reaction, and one that may be taken alike by adult or infant. Profane compounds, made of vile rum or bad whiskey, sweetened and flavored, under the titles of bitters, tonics, &c, produce effects far worse than the disease for which they are taken.

Vinegar Bitters is a pure tonic, a nervine without being narcotic, a purifier without poison, a liver tonic without purging, and above all, a life-giving stimulant without alcohol. The only medicine with such powers in the world.

A GENUINE TEMPERANCE BEVERAGE,

far surpassing alcohol in any shape as a tonic it might be called

since it stimulates, invigorates and regulates digestion, nutrition, secretion, excretion, respiration, and all the functions whereby life is maintained—we literally take in vitality in spoonfuls.

It is too much to assert that the equal of Vinegar Bitters does not exist, and no counterpart or compound with similar virtues has ever been known

CALIFORNIA,

if remarkable for nothing else, would be immortalized by the production of the medicinal fruits, roots and herbs of which this Bitters is composed. Many of them used by the Indians and the medical profession in the treatment of chills and fevers, rheumatism, catarrh, consumption, neuralgia, headaches, liver complaint, kidney disease, jaundice, gout, piles, boils, skin diseases, &c., &c., too numerous to mention, but easily understood when the action of the Bitters on the vital functions is remembered. The discovery was partly accidental but the present

PERFECT BITTERS IS THE RESULT OF SCIENCE.

Millions of sufferers have gratefully and gladly endorsed, during the past quarter of a century the wonderful success of this

PHENOMENAL TONIC OF THE WORLD.

In order to meet every probable demand, two formulas of the same ingredients are now put up.

THE OLD STYLE IS STRONGER, SLIGHTLY BITTER, AND MORE CATHARTIC.

THE NEW STYLE, PLEASANT TO THE TASTE, AND EXPRESSLY ADAPTED TO DELICATE WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

REMEMBER,

There is no disease of low vitality, debility of functions, or nervous prostration for which,

VINEGAR BITTERS IS NOT CURATIVE, and its singular power over the lower organisms renders it the implacable foe of,

THE DEADLY MICROBE AND OMNIPRESENT BACTERIA

in malarial diseases, cholera, consumption, internal diseases, &c., and so great is its power as a germicide that it is an

UNEQUALLED VERMIFUGE.

A book could be written of its virtues, and another of testimonials, but it is only necessary to remember its general action upon the liver, blood, brain and nerves, to realize its use in a majority of the ills that flesh is heir to, and that no family should ever be without a bottle of Local Department.

—Thursday next is Ascension Day.

—Sunday was a delicious "day of rest."

—Have you heard the news from Cameron county?

—Did you know that Monday was Emancipation day?

—Melican manee Polywog Awelst 'ee Chinaman Chinc Mang.

—Judge Furst is holding court in Huntingdon this week.

—It is said that Deputy Sheriff Wilson is a good fisher for pike.

—"John Chinaman" has been discharged from custody.

—Is a grass widow a woman whose husband died of hay fever?

—As the weather grows warmer summer suits grow more numerous.

—A little criticism now and then will not be amiss with the wisest men.

—The finest oranges in the market, 50 cents per dozen, at the Eureka Grocery store.

—It is believed that the car works at Huntingdon will again be put in operation.

—In Bellefonte the trees are now full-leaved and even the mountains are looking green.

—Down in the Eastern counties the churches are holding strawberry festivals already.

—Fietta Weaver, Alf Davis and Maggie Spiecewere taken to the Western Penitentiary Monday.

—Col. Wilkinson expects to have his new house up and ready for occupancy by the first of October.

—$275,000 is the amount contributed by the P. R. R. to the World's Fair Committee at Chicago.

—There is now a good prospect of a libel suit in Bellefonte. We thought the talk was a little too big.

—During the past week. Lock Haven post office officials handled 1,282 pounds and 13 ounces of mail matter.

—That was quite a heavy rain Tuesday afternoon. Some people are becoming frightened lest there be another flood.

—More drunks, more fights and more arrests was part on the programme of the day's play on the streets of Bellefonte Tuesday.

—We are sorry to hear that Mrs. S. H. Williams was painfully injured in a runaway on Sunday. Hope she will soon recover,

—There is not very much building being done in Bellefonte this summer, but of what there is Allegheny street seems to have a monopoly.

—The committee on the Clara Price monument fund are now asking for bids for that work, the $250 desired now being at their command.

—The following persons in Centre county have been granted an increase of pension: Aaron Smith, Philipsburg, and James Dolan, of Pleasant Gap.

—That sweetest of sweetly perfumed flowers, the deliciously scented lilac, is now scattering its sweetness on the soft, balmy air. Exchanges please copy.

—Williamsport has a man who indulges in the dastardly work of peeping in the windows of private residences at night time. He ought to be hung.

—Mr. Wellington, on East Lamb street, has put a new boardwalk along and a new fence around his property. It very much enhances the appearance of same.

—Snow Shoe people say they are now better suited with the present schedule over the Snow Shoe branch than with the old one. So be it then, we are satisfied.

—American mackerel, the finest in the market. These fish are much superior to the foreign product from the English, Irish or Swedish coast. Eureka Grocery Co., Bellefonte.

—Centre county has filed 106 applications for census enumerators. As there are only 36 enumerating districts, the largest per cent of the applicants will get shoved overboard.

—Strawberry shortcake is now on the bill of fare, and if report says truly, that the berries will be cheap this season, it is a delicacy that more than the "favored few" can indulge in.

—The Senate has passed the bill appropriating $150,000 for a public building at Altoona. It now only remains for President Harrison to give it his signature. Bellefonte should try for one next.

—The result of Saturday's primaries in Cameron county was a victory brought about by the Hastings element, and the result in McKean and Warren shows that Stone's strength is no insignificant count.

—The four puddlers who served a two months sentence in jail for resisting a police officer, and whose sentence expired last week, were discharged on Saturday and Monday were as full as little wagons.

THREE DEATHS.

Two Centre County Persons and One Well Known Here Pass Over the Silent River.

Mrs. Garbrick, relict of the well known John Garbrick, who died in 1871, died in Eagleville on Friday from lung trouble brought on by an attack of the grippe. Mrs. Garbrick was a highly esteemed and well known lady and her death has cast a gloom over the entire community. She was aged 78 years 2 months and 14 days. The funeral of deceased occurred on Sunday. The remains, followed by a large concourse of sorrowing friends, were taken to Jacksonville where services were held and where interment was made.

MRS. JOHN B. GIVEN.

Mrs. Mary, wife of John B. Given, and who was well known in this place, died at her home in Philadelphia on Saturday last. The deceased was a highly respected Christian lady and was aged about 72 years. Her death is a severe blow to her husband who has now within a few months, been bereft of a daughter, Alice, a son, George, and now his wife. He is certainly deserving of the most heartfelt sympathy. The remains of Mrs. Givin were taken to Huntingdon for interment, which took place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

MRS. R. C. LEATHERS.

On Sunday evening Mrs. R. C. Leathers, of Mountain Eagle, passed from this earth into the great beyond. Mrs. Leathers has been a sufferer for several years and, though her death is a sad affliction to her family and friends, it is, as those who knew her to be a good christian lady have a right to hope, a blessed change from suffering to perfect bliss. Deceased was aged about 35 years. Funeral Tuesday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

That Bermuda Land Grant.

Some of the newspapers in the Western part of the State have been having a curious time with a paragraph about Gen. Hastings, started by the Johnstown Tribune. Father Boyle, of Gallitzin, who is in Bermuda for his health, wrote a letter to his home newspaper saying that Gen. Hastings, of Ohio, had purchased land in Bermuda, and had been obliged on that account to take an oath that he would never take up arms against the Queen. This was printed by the Johnstown Tribune in such a way as to make it appear that the reference was to Gen. Hastings, of this State, the fact that it was Gen. Hastings, of Ohio, being left out. When Gen. D. H. Hastings, of Pennsylvania, was asked about it he said: "I never owned any property in the Bermudas or any other place outside of Pennsylvania, and I have never taken an oath to support any Government but that of Pennsylvania and the United States of America."

Lot of fine salt mackerel just received at the Eureka Grocery, next door to post office, High street Bellefonte.

That Knights Templar Conclave.

The Reception to be given by Hospitaller Commandery, No. 46, Knights Templar, of Lock Haven, to the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvanio and visiting Knights Templar, on the evening of May 27, promises to be the largest and most brilliantly conducted assembly ever held in that city. The home commandery are sparing no efforts or expense to make it a complete success. They have made a contract with an expert decorator from abroad, at a large expense, to cover the extensive interior of the Armory of Company H in a most elaborate and magnificent manner, and have secured an orchestra equal to any in the State to dispense the music, and are also having engraved and printed most elaborate and superb programmes in elegant style and design, well suited for the grand occasion, which will also be a desirable souvenir. Luncheon will be served without charge to all the guests present.

The General Committee of Arrangements have decided to grant the sale of a limited number of tickets to some of our citizens who may desire to participate in the Reception and enjoy themselves with the distinguished guests of Hospitaller Commandery. All applications for tickets must be made by Saturday, May 17. Invitations are now being sent out to a large number of ladies residing in this city whose names have been handed in by members of the several committees.

The finest line of cakes and crackers received daily at Eureka Grocery, High street.

"John Chinaman" Arrested.

On Monday evening one of the Chinamen from the Chinese laundry on Howard street, was at Mr. W. I. Fleming's tailoring establishment where he became involved in some altercation and fically threatened to shoot the other party. He started for his home "to git me gun" but he never arrived there. Joshua Folk got wind of the affair and the next thing "John Chinaman" knew he was in the grasp of that "old soldier" Folk and within the iron grasp of the law. He was conveyed to jail and locked up. It is said that he is mildly insane and is not responsible for what he does. If such is the case he should be locked up and kept locked up.

In Other Counties.

Freddie Leech, aged 10 years, of Greensburg, was fatally gored by a bull Saturday.

A rumor from Scottdale has it that an English syndicate, with $25,000,000 capital, is after all the iron works there.

An unknown negro, who was stealing a ride on a freight train, fell beneath the wheels near Greensburg, Saturday. Both legs were cut off and he will die.

Mrs. Catharine Smith, aged 86 years, died in Johnstown yesterday. The deceased was the mother of "Mickey" Smith, the murderer, who several years ago cheated justice by escaping from the Ebensburg jail.

William Woodward, a miner employed at the Greensburg Coal company's mines, south of Greensburg, was seriously hurt by a fall of slate Monday morning about 7 o'clock. His right arm was broken, his back injured and his right foot badly crushed.

The Gallitzin Vindicator says that a report reached it Wednesday morning that the Old Portage tunnel had caved in and a visit to the hole verified the rumor. The cave in occurred at or near the centre, and the hole is completely blocked up. At one time this tunnel was considered to be the best of the two being arched throughout with brick and stone. Of late years the solidity of the tunnel has been questioned and the recent collapse has proven that such fears were well grounded, The incessant rains of late have no doubt been the direct cause of the cave-in.

Don't Retrograde, Boys.

The post office officials are kind of retrograding from the general reform they advanced a few weeks ago. The last mail they pretend to distribute in the evening—the one that arrives at 8.49—is, in reality, not distributed until the following forenoon. The post office is now not opened as early as usual and, the cleanliness in the waiting room is not so manifest as formerly; as on every place possible, it looks as if the "dust of ages" had settled. Don't retrograde boys, don't do it.

—Mr. Robert Taylor, of Philipsburg, died Saturday evening, the result of injuries received several months since in an altercation with Capt. Clark, in which Taylor was knocked, or fell down, a flight of cellar stairs striking his head on a stone wall. He was badly hurt at the time but apparently recovered. In the event of his death, no criminal action can be taken against Captain Clark as the time for such action has elapsed and no information against the Captain was ever lodged by Taylor.

—L. E. Stoffiel, the Pittsburg Dispatch road expedition special commissioner, must be having a pretty tough time of it, judging from accounts he has been sending to his paper. Floundering over country roads, through mud and water knee deep, is not an enviable thing to do, but as Mr. Stoffiel is doing it and doing it well, we conclude he is either reaping much glory or receiving big wages. We'll try and find out which if he comes our way.

Will we Have a Big Fourth.

Will we have a big Fourth of July? Why don't some person or organization set the ball a rollin'? Make a move to do something, and then go to work and have a regular old-fasnioned, good time. Drill in the fire companies, the militia, Sons of Veterans, Odd Fellows, Free Masons, and the other secret societies, and have a time like our daddies used to have. Now go to work at once.

—Mr. W. B. Walton, the city editor of the Altoona Times, has resigned his position to take the entire management of Chat, the new illustrated weekly in that place. Mr. Walton will be succeeded by Mr. John L. Givin, a Bellefonte boy, and graduate of the High School, who has been in Altoona now for about one year. We wish John success in his new field of newspaporial work.

—Tom, Dick and Harry soap—3 bars of fine laundry soap for only 10 cents—everybody that uses it, wants it again. Call and get a package for trial. To those who have used it we only need to say that we have received a new lot and can now supply you. Eureka Grocery Co., next door to Post Office, Bellefonte.

Stone Carries McKean County

BRADFORD, May 10.—Of the sixty-eight delegates to be chosen at to-day's primaries the returns up to midnight show that Stone has secured 35; Delamater, 22; Emery, 31; Watson, 22. Of the remainder four are almost certain to be returned in favor of Stone and Emery.

—The Germantown Republican says of the country editor: "He riseth in the morning and knoweth not what a day may bring forth. If he telleth all the news he runneth a great risk of having a tin ear put on him, and if he telleth not the news the people say he is n. g. and there is no joy in it. The crafty man cajoleth him into giving him a fifty cent puff for a five cent cigar, and fond mothers frown on him if he fails to flatter their freckled face broods. And all his ways are ways of woe and his days are full of sorrow. The life insurance man setteth snares for him, and on the whole he hath a deuce of a time.

BASE BALL NEWS.

LOVERS OF THE NATIONAL GAME CAN NOW HAVE A CHANCE.

We are requested to give notice that on Saturday afternoon, on the glass works meadow, Williams' paper-hangers and painter's nine will play Cruse's cigar maker's nine. This will undoubtedly prove a good game as both the above are pretty good local teams.

On the grounds at State College, on Friday afternoon, May 16th the home team will play the team from Lebanon. The College team now plays a good game and their chances of whipping the visiting nine are very good. They will, at least, make it very interesting for them.

A correspondent writing to the Tyrone Herald talks as follows regarding the game played at the College last Saturday: The first game of ballplayed on the College grounds this season took place Saturday between the Lewistown and College teams, and resulted in a victory for the home team. Notwithstanding the condition of the weather there were several hundred people who witnessed the game, which was well played by both teams. The principal features of the game were brilliant catches by Lutz and Atherton, Ellenberger by his magnificent pitching held the visitors down to three hits and struck out thirteen of them. He was well supported by McLean and the balance of the team. For the first three or four innings the game seemed to be in the hands of the visitors but after the home boys realized that the opposing team was no slow one, it was not long until there was a change and they took the lead which place they held throughout the game. The visitors played a very good game especially the battery, Roundtree and Doyle.

Earned runs, State College 0, Lewistown 0; base on balls, off Roundtree 4, Ellenberger 1; struck out, by Roundtree 7, Ellenberger 13; 2 base hits, Ellenberger and Cartright; passed balls, McLean 2, Doyle 5, wild pitches, Roundtree 2, Ellenberger 2; time of game, 2 hrs. and 10 min. Umpires, Holter and Foster.

THE MEETING AT THE RINK.

The meeting that was held in the Rink on Tuesday night was a success. A base ball club was organized and arrangement made for its permanent maintenance. The first thing in that direction will be the holding of a grand ball on next Wednesday night, May 21st, in the Rink, proceeds to be devoted to the benefit of the club. Give the boys a chance, now as well as financial support, and Bellefonte will not be behind in the base ball arena. We might add that the club organized Tuesday night will accept any challenge from local clubs that may be given them.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO THE COLLEGE.

The ball game on Friday at State College, between the home team and the Lebanon nine will be very exciting and interesting. We are requested to say that if 44 persons in Bellefonte desire to go up a special train will be run over the Buffalo Run railroad, and the fare for the round trip will be only 50 cents. Send in your name to this office.

The Case Continued.

In the case of Commonwealth vs. John McKinney of which the application for a new trial was argued on Saturday, the court retained the papers and continued the case until the August court.

Horses and Mules Cremated.

From Tuesday's Tyrone Herald.

Early this morning shortly after midnight, the engineer of a freight train going east noticed flames bursting through the roof of the stable at Tyrone Forges, owned by S. C. Stewart and used by A. G. Morris for his working stock, and he blew the whistle of his engine repeatedly, until the attention of the men in the rolling mill was attracted to the blaze, when they hurried to the scene, in the hope of putting an end to the fire or at least saving the horses and mules inside the stable.

Just beside the building which was ablaze was another stable belonging to Mr. Stewart in which his own horses were kept. When the fire was discovered it had already made great headway, so that it was impossible to check it, and the flames also spread to the second stable. There being no hope of saving the building, the efforts of the men present were concentrated toward getting out the stock. In Mr. Stewart's stable there were five horses, and these were all gotten out safely, but none too soon. There were six horses and four mules in the other stable, belonging to Mr. Morris, which were used for hauling the carts at the limestone quarries. All these ten head of stock were burned to death.

One mule just reached the door, but could get no further, and sank down in a mass of flames. It was only a short time until both buildings had been burned to the ground and of the horses and mules in the first stable nothing remained but their charred carcasses The Citizens Fire Co. was on hand as promptly as possible with its engine, but they had too far to go to arrive in time for effective service.

The stock burned was quite valuable, some of the horses having been purchased very recently by Mr. Morris. The other contents of the stable, consisting of harness, etc., were also destroyed. As to the origin of the fire, everything indicates that it was the work of an incendiary. There was no insurance upon either buildings or contents and the loss is total.

Personal Pencilings.

Whitfield McCormick, of Centre Hall, spent Sunday in Tyrone.

Mr. Harry Keller, of Harrisburg, spent Sunday with his parents in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. James Storm, of Tyrone, are visiting their son William, in this place.

Mr. H. G. Heston, a member of the enterprising firm of A. S. Hill & Co., Philadelphia, was in Bellefonte on Friday.

Mr. James Dowling, of Renovo, who is en route for Rochester, N. Y., stopped off at this place Monday evening to see his many friends.

Postmaster J. A. Fiedler spent Sunday at his old home in Penns Valley, going down on Saturday and returning Monday evening.

Miss Minnie Crossthwaite, who was the guest of Miss Effie Woomer, in Tyrone, returned to her home in this place on Monday evening.

Mr. Newton S. Bailey and mother now occupy the house recently occupied by Mr. Hinkleman, corner Lamb and Ridge streets, and owned by Rev. J. A. Woodcock.

Mr. Mox Sternberg departed on the 5:20 train on Thursday evening for Seattle, Washington, where his brother, Paul, is now located. These young gentleman are amiable, bright and courteous, and we expect, at no distant day in the future, to hear of them making their mark in that far off, frontier land. May success attend them.

Mr. John W. Gray, of Half Moon township, was in Bellefonte on Friday, the first time for more than two years. Wm. Gray is one of the prosperous farmers of that rich farming valley and a very companionable gentleman. He told us that so far there had been very little corn planted in his neighborhood, many of the farmers still having considerable ploughing to do.

Major Jack Spangler, of Bellefonte was at the Continental Hotel yesterday with his wife. Major Spangler was recently married, and after having purchased a handsome property brought his bride down to the city to buy carpets, furniture and other fixings for housekeeping. They looked around among the stores until the Major was about worn out and then he came back to the hotel to talk to ex-Senator R. P. Allen, of Williamsport, by way of diversion. Mr. Spangler is the law partner of General D. H. Hastings and is a member of Governor Beaver's staff. Though an ardent Democrat he is anxious to see his partner nominated for Governor.—Philadelphia Press. Now, wouldn't that make a strong law team Spangler & Hastings, but it does not happen to be. W. F. Reeder, Esq., is the law partner of Gen. Hastings and a very able one, too. Major Spangler is only associated with General Hastings in the coal business. See.

The Eureka Grocery, next door to post office, has a full line of finest groceries and sell them at lowest market prices. Call and see.

Howard Happenings.

Mr. H. T. Lucas, our new postmaster, is now fitting up a room which will be used for the post office in the near future

Mr. Daniel Leathers, of Curwensville, has come to Howard to see his invalid mother, Mrs. John Gardner, whose life is despaired of.

Mrs. Smeltzer's house is receiving a new coat of paint, which is what is badly needed by a great many houses in Howard.

Mr. T. A. Long is building an addition to his house, to be used for kitchen and wash house.

The streets of Howard are being prepared for another wet season.

The new P. M. is appointed, and a license has been granted our hotel keeper, what next will be the excitement in Howard? We trust that peace and harmony may now prevail and all things that have come to pass will be an advantage to this place financially, politically and morally.

Another Mail Benefit.

Through the solicitation of postmaster Fiedler the Philadelphia and New York mail will, in the course of a few days, arrive in Bellefonte over the Lewisburg railroad thus bringing it here fifteen minutes earlier than it now comes. This will be of great advantage as fifteen minutes in the receiving of ones mail is quite a consideration so far as time is concerned.

The DAILY NEWS was in error Tuesday in stating that the night mail was not distributed when received. It always is only when the train is a half hour or so late then it is left over till the next morning.

—Isaac Sickler, of Towanda, Bradford county, Pa., challenges any person in Clinton and Centre counties to run a foot race of from three to five hundred yards. The race is to be run in Bradford county and the purse to be from $50 to $100.

Of a family of 16, near Taylorstown, this State, 13 have died of diphtheria.

A BIG FIRE AT FORD'S RUN.

Destruction of One and Half Million Feet of Lumber, Valued at Many Thousands of Dollars.

Just as we go to press a telephone message informs us that a fire is raging at Ford's Run lumber mills, the property of the Jones Lumber Co. It had been intended to have taken the hose trucks of our fire department without any kind of alarm but the sight of the truck and hose was too much for the more excitable and gong and triangle of the fire companies were set a going and the town was soon astir. The Beech Creek provided an engine and flat cars to convey the truck and hose of the Reliance. The engine of the Hope was in readiness for a call on the second trip. Representatives of both companies went on the first lot of cars and it is hoped that their aid will be all that will be required, although the lumber mills are in great danger of destruction.

LATER.—A message from the scene of fire at 3 p. m., from O. Perry Jones, Esq., one of the proprietors, says that the fire has been burning for about two hours, but that there is some hope that a half of the lumber will be saved and that the mills will not be endangered. There is about 3,000,000 feet of lumber in the yard and the loss of one-half will mean a loss of many thousand dollars.

4 P. M.—The fire still raging but it is being mastered and it is hoped will be shortly under control. The engine had not arrived and the hose at hand could not be used. Ready hands are working hard with buckets a large number having been sent down on the first train of cars.—Philipsburg Journal of Tuesday.

Gleanings.

Ability is often reinforced by necessity.

There is a transcendent power in example.

We reform others when we walk uprightly.

Hypocrisy is the necessary burden of villainy.

Take things as they are and make the best of them.

Ill-bred people are always the most ceremonious.

It costs more to revenge injuries than to bear them.

The power of doing a good action is happiness enough.

Stupidity is to the mind what clumsiness is to the body.

Life is made up, not of knowledge only, but love also.

Happiness is like the echo; it answers, but does not come.

Happiness is to the heart what sunlight is to the body.

If you wish to be borne with yourself bear with others.

—Monday about noon Thomas Quick, of Milesburg, one of the men employed under Fred Kneiss, while working at the new railroad bridge near Fowler station on the B. E. V. R. R. met with a painful accident: When the bridge was being moved into place, his left hand was caught by it, and the whole heavy structure came against it, crushing and cutting it badly. The man came to Tyrone on local freight and the injured member was dressed by Dr. Gemmill, after which he proceeded to his home at Milesburg.

—The Altoona Tribune, the leading daily in Central Pennsylvania, now comes out with all its reading matter set solid. This is not as some may think, for economy's sake, to save the expense of leads, but it is done that they may be enabled to put more reading matter in the space, and thus give their subscribers more for the same money.

—Only nine persons from Bellefonte took advantage of the excursion to Lewisburg Wednesday ta go and hear and see the dedication of the Beaver Memorial church.
